AgriFleet

"At AgriFleet, we don't just move produce — we move data, trust, and transparency through every box that leaves the farm."

AgriFleet is a next-generation logistics and traceability platform designed specifically for the fresh produce export industry in Kenya and beyond. Our system digitizes every step of the export chain — from growers logging produce at origin to agents scanning boxes at checkpoints, all the way to compliance-ready export reports.

What makes us different?

AgriFleet understands the chaos in agricultural logistics: paperwork errors, missing boxes, and limited traceability. Our platform solves this by letting growers:

- Log their consignments digitally
- Assign product variants per box
- Track scan events live
- Get automatic exception reports when something goes wrong

With built-in rules to detect double scans, box tampering, or delays — we help ensure your cold chain remains compliant, visible, and fast.

For regulators, cooperatives, and exporters, AgriFleet offers one shared source of truth. From order creation to export documentation, everything is handled in one clean, efficient system.

Track Every Box. Trust Every Shipment.

AgriFleet is more than software. It's your logistics nerve center — tailored for the field, ready for the world.
